One Good Rod Requires Another

The divining rod expert was called by Mayor Harry Sheppard to find water near the dump, thereby making extinguishing of the frequent fires easier.

Vacant House Catches Fire; Burns 1 Hour

Roof of Structure Completely Razed By Flash Blaze

EDGELY, Aug 27 — An abandoned farmhouse in Fleetwings Estates caught fire at 2:15 yesterday afternoon and blazed unchecked until it was brought under control at 3:20.

The old house, which has not been occupied for a number of years, is located on Green Lane at the very tip of the Fleetwing Estates section across the highway from the 3M Airport.

Firemen from Edgely, Consolidated and Bristol Fire companies answered the call relayed by the police switchboard in the Bristol Borough Hall.

Started on Porch

Elwood C. Smith, assistant chief of the Edgely Fire Co., said the blaze probably started on the porch of the abandoned two-and-a-half-story structure and soon raced up the wooden facade spreading rapidly to the wood-shingle roof.

Smith said the roof was completely destroyed, but, miraculously, the inside of the farmhouse escaped very much damage.

The old house is made up of five rooms. Smith said it was a residence at one time, but couldn't estimate how long ago it may have been since it was occupied.

Smith said razing operations had just begun at the farmhouse site to make way for the expansion of the Levittown housing development.

No Theory

Firemen had no ready theory for the origin of the blaze. The presence of a number of birds' nests in the structure led Chief Smith to believe the fire may have been started by spontaneous combustion.

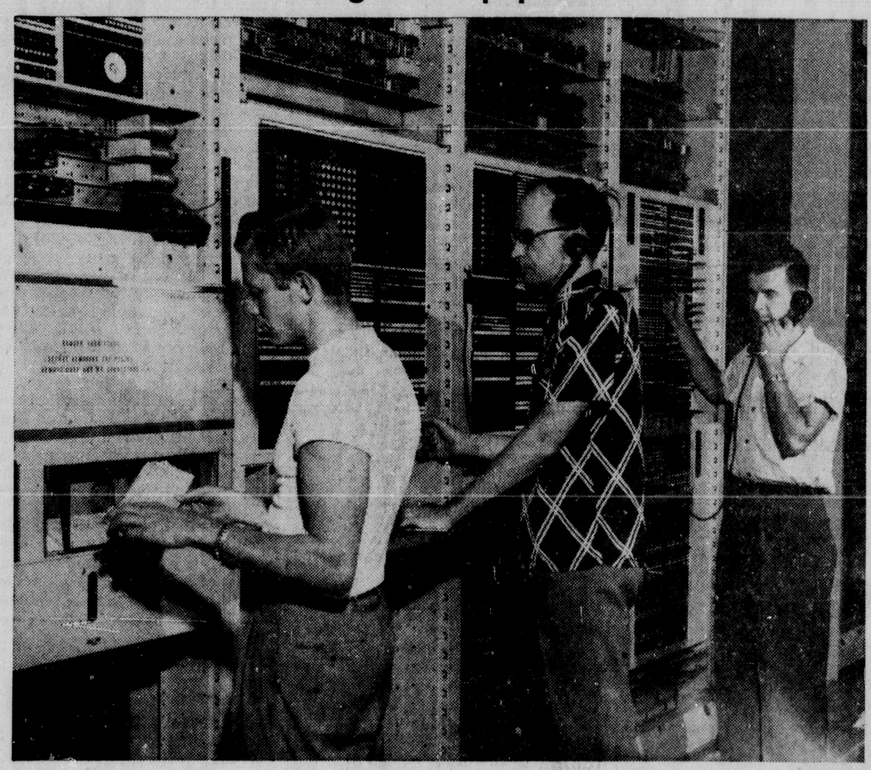
Testing New Equipment



TESTING THE NEW DIAL switching equipment in the new Windsor telephone central office are Ira Williams, of Fort Washington; William McDonnell, of Bristol, and Milton Livesey, of Bristol, Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania "switchmen." The office will go into service early Sunday morning.

Phone Company Plans 'Cutover' Of New Windsor Central Office

At 1 a. m. Sunday a group of men with long strings in their hands will be standing in the new telephone building on Newportville road, Emilie, waiting for a signal which will put the new Windsor dial telephone central office into operation.

This office will provide the most modern telephone service for Levittown, Fairless Hills and vicinity.

When the signal comes, they will pull the strings and rush to other strings to pull them. Each pull will connect a large group of subscribers with the new Windsor dial system and the entire operation should be completed in a very short time.

This will mark the completion of one of the largest steps in the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania's tremendous expansion program in Lower Bucks County, which is expected to total more than $6,000,000.

New Dialing

The same night the new office goes into service new dialing practices will go into effect in virtually all the Lower Bucks County offices, permitting direct dialing of many calls now handled through the operators. Many numbers will be changed and a large number of new subscribers will receive telephone service.

D. R. Douglass, Jr., local manager, of the Bell Company, said the "cutover," as it is known in telephone language, will be fairly complicated, as there are several groups of subscribers involved, each of whom will be connected to the new Windsor office in a different way.

Camera Eye Catches Fire Training Blaze

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 27 —It was "Camera'. . . action!" as the first phase of an elaborate program for firemen's training got underway on a site adjacent to a used car lot at Street road and Bristol pike several nights ago.

As the camera lens began to take in the scene owners of the lot, cooperating with firemen to the extent that they had decided to level two old frame houses on the property adjoining the lot in an expansion move, set the hoary structures ablaze.

An arc-light battery of the Bucks County Rescue Squad lit the scene and an ambulance stood by for first aid emergencies.

Firemen Observe

Watching the timber catch with a roaring flame were firemen students from the Edgely volunteer company and companies from Croydon, Eddington, Newportville, Cornwells, plus the Union Fire company and some representatives from the Trevose Fire Co.

Robert Brenner, county fire police marshall, supervised traffic in an around the scene, and the whole program went off without a hitch.

School Principal Plans To Summon Vandals' Parents

The four Bristol boys who admitted messing up and defacing the Jefferson Avenue School playground when questioned by borough police Tuesday, will be under constant surveillance and restraint it was learned yesterday.

The youths, identified by police only as three 16-year-olds and one boy who is 14, admitted guilt in removing sand from the children's play box at the playground, piling it against the school door, stuffing the drinking water bubbler and coating the sliding board there with tar.

They have been placed under the jurisdiction of Warren P. Snyder, Bristol superintendent of schools.

Snyder said yesterday he intends soon to call in all parents of the youths involved in the offenses in an attempt to make plain the seriousness of the matter.

Further action will be taken as it is indicated, but the possibility of expulsion was momentarily held in abeyance.

Patrolman Vincent Faragalli, said police were not dropping the matter simply because it had been transferred to Snyder for adjudication. He said police will prosecute persons committing similar nuisances to full extent of the law.

Bucks Population Expected to Leap Another 37,450

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 27—Population figures in Lower Bucks County will leap another 37,450 in the next two years maintaining the pace set between April 15, 1951, and Dec. 31, 1952, which showed an increase of some 32,700.

The estimate was made by Franklin C. Wood, executive director of the Bucks County Planning Commission from subdivision figures gathered by the commission.

Wood said he estimated 10,900 houses would be built on the 11,070 lots approved in the county, all but 143 of them being in the lower third of the county.

Approvals of lots cover all of last year and the first six months of this year. The population estimate was made on the basis of 3.5 persons per dwelling. Wood assumed that all houses built would be occupied.

Most of the expected building will be done by Levitt and Sons, Inc., in Bristol and Falls Township and Tullytown, according to the Planning Commission report. However, considerable building activity is expected in Upper and Lower Southampton Townships, in Bensalem Township and in Lower Makefield Township.

The average for population growth in the past two years of 15 per cent each year contrasts with the 5 per cent increase per year in the period between 1940 and 1950, Wood pointed out.

Falls Authorities Hear Complaints Of Sewage Odor

Low River Cuts Morrisville's Water Supply

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 27 — An abnormally low river level contributing to an "air-bound" condition in Morrisville's new water pump was causing an acute water shortage in the northern section of the borough this morning as Lawrence F. Newell, water works superintendent and aides struggled to right the condition.

Water trickled in the faucets and ceased altogether in some homes. Bucket brigades were seen in operation in some sections as water for bathing and household use disappeared. Members of the brigades said the water was being "borrowed from elsewhere."

Superintendent Newell appeared careworn this morning after answering numerous telephone complaints yesterday and from missing out on sleep. He had been up most of the night trying to get the air out of the new pump himself.

Just Temporary

Newell emphasized the pump installation was a temporary one put into operation to placate Morrisville residents in their demands for more water. He said it had not yet been set up in the manner in which it will operate on a permanent basis.

The superintendent said the river mark was at minus-.30, a technical description he said means mighty low indeed, so that instead of drawing water the new pump has been drawing air.

When It Works

When working properly the new pump will be capable of dispatching a flow of 1,500,000 gallons more water than is needed for reasonable water service. Newell said the low lift pumps at the station were providing a capacity of 700,000 gallons a day. The latter figure struck a shortage of about 500,000 gallons a day for a full water supply.

The river level, in technical terms, has been below "zero" on the water gauge for the past two days. Yesterday the reading was at minus-.27.

Twp. Police Find Abandoned Baby's Father in Search

The father of the baby who was abandoned in Bristol Terrace last month has been located and has agreed to support the child, according to Bristol twp. Police Chief John R. Stewart.

Stewart said that the man, John H. Martin, 34, who gave his address as the Veterans' Hospital, Lyons, N. J., appeared in Doylestown yesterday on a court order provided by Township Police and signed papers attesting that he would support the child, Gretchen Martin, eight months.

The child has been placed in a foster home in the county.

Stewart would not say how the father was located, but said that he had "some information" pertaining to his whereabouts which proved to be correct. The mother, Mrs. Gwendolyn Martin, has not been located.

Martin told Judge Edward H. Satterthwaite yesterday that he hadn't seen his wife since July 9, about a week before she left the girl with a neighbor in Bristol Terrace II.

Martin also disclosed that the couple have another child, a six-year-old boy.

A warrant was issued before Hulmeville Justice of the Peace Richard Hopkins yesterday for the mother. Stewart said the mother would be charged with child abandonment. He said that Martin would be taken back into court on contempt of court charges if he failed to support the child as promised. He has signed a $500 bail bond to guarantee support, Stewart said.

PARENTS TO MEET

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27 — Bristol Township Parents Association will meet Tuesday evening, Sept. 1 at the home of Mrs. Roland Rhodes, 53 Green lane.

Protest Group Probes Plant's Operations

FAIRLESS HILLS, Aug. 27 — A complaint of obnoxious odors emanating from the new million dollar sewage disposal plant in Fergusonville was brought before the Falls Township Authority here last night by the Fergusonville Community Center and Improvement Association.

Secretary Roy Hansen of the Association told the Authority that the partially-completed structure has been producing odors "since it opened in May." He said his group had received complaints from residents of the area who wanted to know whether the plant had permission to operate in its present state of construction.

Howard LeDan, consulting engineer for the Authority, told Hansen that a permit was obtained from the Sanitary Water Board to build the plant. He said that district health representative George Elias "is aware that the plant is operating now."

Odor Questioned

A question of whether the plant would continue to throw off odors after completion was brought up by Hansen who said he didn't have "any faith in the project." LeDan said that, when completed, the sludge which is now causing the odors would be controlled in "digesters" with "floating covers" which would keep the refuse covered at all times.

"This will eliminate the odors," he said.

He told Hansen that the plant is "designed to accommodate 4200

Police Arrest Vet For Thefts From Levitt Development

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27—A recently-discharged Army veteran, who worked in this home development project for a week as a carpenter, was arrested at his Eddington home last night and admitted stealing a bathtub and asbestos siding from the North Park section, where Ranchers are being constructed.

The suspect, Harry E. Schmidt, of Lavender road, told Sidney Meth, superintendent of the Levittown uGard Force, he was building a new home on his property. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Melvin, of Fallsington, Schmidt was held for the grand jury in bail.

Meth went to Schmidt's home with a search warrant from Justice Melvin, and accompanied by Nicholas Eberle, president of the guard service, Constable J. W. Kratz, of Tullytown, and Officer William Schramm, of Bensalem township police.

Under questioning, the suspect admitted taking the tub and siding. He said he had worked in Levittown as a carpenter for Weidel Co., a sub-contractor.

Meth, a noted criminologist, announced that the guard force will take stern measures to protect Levitt property. "I will prosecute to the fullest extent anyone stealing or damaging property that we are protecting here," he said.

Schmidt was discharged four months ago after seven years' service in the Army, much of it in the Far East.

Levittown Demos To Study Merger

LEVITTOWN, August 27 — An independent study on the feasability of incorporating Levittown is being initiated by the Democratic Party, according to the party chairman, Patrick Brennan.

He said the survey will be used as a basis for establishing an overall party policy on this problem.

The study will be prepared under the supervision of Harry J. Conn, 32 Laurel lane, an investment analyst.

The research into the advantages and disadvantages of incorporating the Levittown area will embrace political, sociological and economic aspects, Brennan emphasized. In considering economic implications, an attempt will be made to set up a model budget which might be adopted should incorporation be undertaken, he said.

Phone Company Plans 'Cutover' Of New Windsor Central Office

At 1 a. m. Sunday a group of men with long strings in their hands will be standing in the new telephone building on Newportville road, Emilie, waiting for a signal which will put the new Windsor dial telephone central office into operation.

This office will provide the most modern telephone service for Levittown, Fairless Hills and vicinity.

When the signal comes, they will pull the strings and rush to other strings to pull them. Each pull will connect a large group of subscribers with the new Windsor dial system and the entire operation should be completed in a very short time.

This will mark the completion of one of the largest steps in the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania's tremendous expansion program in Lower Bucks County, which is expected to total more than $6,000,000.

New Dialing

The same, night the new office goes into service new dialing practices will go into effect in virtually all the Lower Bucks County offices, permitting direct dialing of many calls now handled through the operators. Many numbers will be changed and a large number of new subscribers will receive telephone service.

D. R. Douglass, Jr., local manager, of the Bell Company, said the "cutover," as it is known in telephone language, will be fairly complicated, as there are several groups of subscribers involved, each of whom will be connected to the new Windsor office in a different way.

One group of nearly 1600 sub-

Traffic Stops; 2 Autos Collide

Two cars were damaged yesterday in a rear-end collision in the 1200 block of Radcliffe street, Bristol police reported.

Officers Anthony Esposito and John Chichilitti said both cars were heading west on Radcliffe street. Drivers were Robert Ambrose, of N. 58th street, Philadelphia, and Martin Brauning, 3524 Welsh road, Philadelphia.

Ambrose, driving in front, stopped when the line of traffic suddenly stopped, the officers said, and Brauning struck Ambrose's car in the rear. The rear, and right rear fender of Ambrose's car were damaged in the crash, police said, and Brauning's car was damaged on the front end.

School Principal Plans To Summon Vandals' Parents

The four Bristol boys who admitted messing up and defacing the Jefferson Avenue School playground when questioned by borough police Tuesday, will be under constant surveillance and restraint it was learned yesterday.

The youths, identified by police only as three 16-year-olds and one boy who is 14, admitted guilt in removing sand from the children's play box at the playground, piling it against the school door, stuffing the drinking water bubbler and coating the sliding board there with tar.

They have been placed under the jurisdiction of Warren P. Snyder, Bristol superintendent of schools.

Snyder said yesterday he intends soon to call in all parents of the youths involved in the offenses in an attempt to make plain the seriousness of the matter.

Further action will be taken as it is indicated, but the possibility of expulsion was momentarily held in abeyance.

Patrolman Vincent Faragalli, said police were not dropping the matter simply because it had been transferred to Snyder for adjudication. He said police will prosecute persons committing similar nuisances to full extent of the law.

Camera Eye Catches Fire Training Blaze

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 27 —It was "Camera! . . . action!" as the first phase of an elaborate program for firemen's training got underway on a site adjacent to a used car lot at Street road and Bristol pike several nights ago.

As the camera lens began to take in the scene owners of the lot, cooperating with firemen to the extent that they had decided to level two old frame houses on the property adjoining the lot in an expansion move, set the hoary structures ablaze.

An arc-light battery of the Bucks County Rescue Squad lit the scene and an ambulance stood by for first aid emergencies.

Firemen Observe

Watching the timber catch with a roaring flame were firemen students from the Edgely volunteer company and companies from Croydon, Eddington, Newportville, Cornwells, plus the Union Fire company and some representatives from the Trevose Fire Co.

Robert Brenner, county fire police marshall, supervised traffic in an around the scene, and the whole program went off without a hitch.

Bucks Population Expected to Leap Another 37,450

DOYLESTOWN, Aug. 27—Population figures in Lower Bucks County will leap another 37,450 in the next two years maintaining the pace set between April 15, 1951, and Dec. 31, 1952, which showed an increase of some 32,700.

The estimate was made by Franklin C. Wood, executive director of the Bucks County Planning Commission from subdivision figures gathered by the commission.

Wood said he estimated 10,900 houses would be built on the 11,070 lots approved in the county, all but 143 of them being in the lower third of the county.

Approvals of lots cover all of last year and the first six months of this year. The population estimate was made on the basis of 3.5 persons per dwelling. Wood assumed that all houses built would be occupied.

Most of the expected building will be done by Levitt and Sons, Inc., in Bristol and Falls Township and Tullytown, according to the Planning Commission report. However, considerable building activity is expected in Upper and Lower Southampton Townships, in Bensalem Township and in Lower Makefield Township.

The average for population growth in the past two years of 15 per cent each year contrasts with the 5 per cent increase per year in the period between 1940 and 1950, Wood pointed out.

Falls Authorities Hear Complaints Of Sewage Odor

Low River Cuts Morrisville's Water Supply

MORRISVILLE, Aug. 27 — An abnormally low river level contributing to an "air-bound" condition in Morrisville's new water pump was causing an acute water shortage in the northern section of the borough this morning as Lawrence F. Newell, water works superintendent and aides struggled to right the condition.

Water trickled in the faucets and ceased altogether in some homes. Bucket brigades were seen in operation in some sections as water for bathing and household use disappeared. Members of the brigades said the water was being "borrowed from elsewhere."

Superintendent Newell appeared careworn this morning after answering numerous telephone complaints yesterday and from missing out on sleep. He had been up most of the night trying to get the air out of the new pump himself.

Just Temporary

Newell emphasized the pump installation was a temporary one put into operation to placate Morrisville residents in their demands for more water. He said it had not yet been set up in the manner in which it will operate on a permanent basis.

The superintendent said the river mark was at minus-.30, a technical description he said means mighty low indeed, so that instead of drawing water the new pump has been drawing air.

When It Works

When working properly the new pump will be capable of dispatching a flow of 1,500,000 gallons more water than is needed for reasonable water service. Newell said the low lift pumps at the station were providing a capacity of 700,000 gallons a day. The latter figure struck a shortage of about 500,000 gallons a day for a full water supply.

The river level, in technical terms, has been below "zero" on the water gauge for the past two days. Yesterday the reading was at minus-.27.

Twp. Police Find Abandoned Baby's Father in Search

The father of the baby who was abandoned in Bristol Terrace last month has been located and has agreed to support the child, according to Bristol twp. Police Chief John R. Stewart.

Stewart said that the man, John H. Martin, 34, who gave his address as the Veterans' Hospital, Lyons, N. J., appeared in Doylestown yesterday on a court order provided by Township Police and signed papers attesting that he would support the child, Gretchen Martin, eight months.

The child has been placed in a foster home in the county.

Stewart would not say how the father was located, but said that he had "some information" pertaining to his whereabouts which proved to be correct. The mother, Mrs. Gwendolyn Martin, has not been located.

Martin told Judge Edward H. Satterthwaite yesterday that he hadn't seen his wife since July 9, about a week before she left the girl with a neighbor in Bristol Terrace II.

Martin also disclosed that the couple have another child, a six-year-old boy.

A warrant was issued before Hulmeville Justice of the Peace Richard Hopkins yesterday for the mother. Stewart said the mother would be charged with child abandonment. He said that Martin would be taken back into court on contempt of court charges if he failed to support the child as promised. He has signed a $500 bail bond to guarantee support, Stewart said.

PARENTS TO MEET

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27 — Bristol Township Parents Association will meet Tuesday evening, Sept. 1 at the home of Mrs. Roland Rhodes, 53 Green lane.

Protest Group Probes Plant's Operations

FAIRLESS HILLS, Aug. 27 — A complaint of obnoxious odors emanating from the new million dollar sewage disposal plant in Fergusonville was brought before the Falls Township Authority here last night by the Fergusonville Community Center and Improvement Association.

Secretary Roy Hansen of the Association told the Authority that the partially-completed structure has been producing odors "since it opened in May." He said his group had received complaints from residents of the area who wanted to know whether the plant had permission to operate in its present state of construction.

Howard LeDan, consulting engineer for the Authority, told Hansen that a permit was obtained from the Sanitary Water Board to build the plant. He said that district health representative George Elias "is aware that the plant is operating now."

Odor Questioned

A question of whether the plant would continue to throw off odors after completion was brought up by Hansen who said he didn't have "any faith in the project." LeDan said that, when completed, the sludge which is now causing the odors would be controlled in "digesters" with "floating covers" which would keep the refuse covered at all times.

"This will eliminate the odors," he said.

He told Hansen that the plant is "designed to accommodate 4200

Police Arrest Vet For Thefts From Levitt Development

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27—A recently-discharged Army veteran, who worked in this home development project for a week as a carpenter, was arrested at his Eddington home last night and admitted stealing a bathtub and asbestos siding from the North Park section, where Ranchers are being constructed.

The suspect, Harry E. Schmidt, of Lavender road, told Sidney Meth, superintendent of the Levittown uGard Force, he was building a new home on his property. Arraigned before Justice of the Peace John Melvin, of Fallsington, Schmidt was held for the grand jury in bail.

Meth went to Schmidt's home with a search warrant from Justice Melvin, and accompanied by Nicholas Eberle, president of the guard service, Constable J. W. Kratz, of Tullytown, and Officer William Schramm, of Bensalem township police.

Under questioning, the suspect admitted taking the tub and siding. He said he had worked in Levittown as a carpenter for Weidel Co., a sub-contractor.

Meth, a noted criminologist, announced that the guard force will take stern measures to protect Levitt property. "I will prosecute to the fullest extent anyone stealing or damaging property that we are protecting here," he said.

Schmidt was discharged four months ago after seven years' service in the Army, much of it in the Far East.

Levittown Demos To Study Merger

LEVITTOWN, August 27 — An independent study on the feasability of incorporating Levittown is being initiated by the Democratic Party, according to the party chairman, Patrick Brennan.

He said the survey will be used as a basis for establishing an overall party policy on this problem.

The study will be prepared under the supervision of Harry J. Conn, 32 Laurel lane, an investment analyst.

The research into the advantages and disadvantages of incorporating the Levittown area will embrace political, sociological and economic aspects, Brennan emphasized. In considering economic implications, an attempt will be made to set up a model budget which might be adopted should incorporation be undertaken, he said.

Training Blaze

One of the purposes of the training blaze was to give firemen a sense of timing. The blaze was clocked at a duration of 17 minutes from start to the point where the cave-in of the structure began.

Firemen had hoses unfurled while they watched ready to direct a stream of water at any vagrant spark that might endanger property.

There was nothing left to mark the site of the two old frame structures but fine black ash and some scattered charred embers today.

Police Hold Driver On Drunk Charge

EMILIE, Aug. 27 — Owen H. Johnston, 63, of 1843 Bristol pike, Croydon, is being detained in Bristol Borough jail to await a hearing on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Bristol Township police said Johnston failed to halt when a car ahead, operated by Kenneth Hollingsworth, 25, of Bristol pike, Cornwells, was making a left turn into Newport road at Route 13 and ran into the rear of Hollingsworth's car.

Both vehicles were traveling east on Route 13 when the incident occurred last night at 11 p. m.

Police took Johnston to Bristol General Hospital for examination. He was pronounced intoxicated.

Hollingsworth's car was damaged in the rear and Johnston's in the front.

Bank Men Differ On Merger Proposal

Opinions on cross-county bank mergers differ from banker to banker, Norman Hayes, a vice-president of the Philadelphia National Bank, commented yesterday on a protest action taken by the Bucks County Bankers Association.

The bankers association adopted a resolution scoring the proposed cross-county merger of the Philadelphia National Bank with the First National Bank of Conshohocken. The association resolved to "vigorously . . . oppose any efforts to weaken unit banking system by extension of branch banking beyond county lines of the home office."

Hayes said he had no comment when first contacted, then added that it was a matter of different opinion and not one-sided.

The proposed merger was approved by the two banks July 21. Stockholders are scheduled to vote on the matter Sept. 16. If approved the merger becomes effective Sept. 25. Each share of Conshohocken bank stock would be exchanged for a share of the Philadelphia bank stock.

SPECIAL EDITION ANNOUNCEMENT

The special "Meet Your Neighbor" edition of THE BRISTOL COURIER, previously announced for September 16, will be published on September 30 instead.

This edition will be distributed, door to door, to a minimum of 25,000 homes in Lower Bucks County, giving the first blanket coverage ever offered in this area.

Two reasons dictated the change in date. One is the fact that new mechanical facilities will be available by September 30 which will not be finished September 16. The other is our desire to give all advertisers who are interested in this special edition full opportunity to make best use of it.

Early response to the plan has been unprecedented. One of the first orders taken is for a tabloid insert using substantially a fourth of the space originally planned for the whole edition.

Advertisers wishing to be included are urged to make early reservations of space, since for reasons of mechanical limitations, THE BRISTOL COURIER will decline to accept orders beyond what it considers to be its capacity.

Advertising copy deadline will be 12 o'clock noon, September 23.

connections, but can be increased at a later date to 5500 or 6000."

Completion is expected around October 15.

Two builders who requested permission to hook into the Authority's water mains were delayed in their efforts until today, at least.

LeDan heard requests from John Doheny and George Taylor, who have tracts of 13 and 93 acres resting in Falls Township. Both want to cut into the first service tap at the intersection of Tyburn road and Moon street.

Cite Cost

Tehy said the total cost of the venture, which would be borne by them, would amount to $14,635.80, figured at a cost of $4.50 per running foot of six-inch pipe.

LeDan asked the builders to present the figures "broken down" including costs of hydrants, valves, taps and mains at a future date.

Taylor and Doheny said they would bear the entire cost of the project providing the Authority reimbursed them on a percentage-of-water-rents-collected basis "until we realize our investment."

Phone Company

scribers are people in Levittown, Fairless Hills and vicinity, who are now receiving service from either the Bristol, Langhorne, or Morrisville central offices and who will be transferred to Windsor early Sunday morning.

A second group will be those in the same category who, for technical reasons, cannot be transferred immediately, but will be transferred within the next few weeks. These total about 800.

Phones Pre-Wired

A third group will be about 2200 persons who do not have service now, but who have had their telephones pre-wired and will be given service Sunday morning by a simple connection in the new office. There are still others who will be connected as rapidly as new cable lines can be installed.

The telephones of all those receiving service Sunday morning are now connected to the new dial facilities, Douglass said, but the connections are "blocked" by small "tools" which are held between springs. Each tool has a string connected to it and the strings are gathered together in large groups, so that a single pull of a master string will pull out hundreds of tools.

The manager also explained that many of the subscribers now served from other offices, are actually served by lines which were built for central office lines, but were pressed into service as subscriber lines in order to provide as much service as possible until the new office opened. These lines, after the "cutover," will be used for Bristol-Windsor, Langhorne-Windsor, and Morrisville-Windsor calls.

When the time comes for the "cutover," Bell central office men in the Bristol, Langhorne and Morrisville offices will cut the lines of the subscribers who are to be transferred to Windsor. When that is completed, in a few seconds, the signal will be given to the new office.

Will Change Lines

Then a special operation will be done which will change the subscriber lines into central office lines and the important signal will be given.

The strings will be pulled, the "tools" will snap out, the springs which held them will go together, and the connections will have been completed in the new Windsor dial apparatus.

A little later, other strings will pull out other "tools" and connections will be completed for the "pre-installed" telephones of those who have been waiting for service.

Douglass said that where possible operators would warn callers that the "cutover" was coming, starting about ten minutes before it occurs.

Few Calls

"However," he explained, "there are normally very few calls in progress at 1 a. m. Sunday, which is one of the reasons that time was picked. We don't expect any telephone will be out of service for more than a short time. The central office men will work well into Sunday morning testing the new equipment and connecting central office lines so that by 7 o'clock Sunday morning the system will be in full operation."

The remaining customers who are to be transferred to the Windsor office will have it done on a "line-by-line" basis over the next several weeks. The timing will depend largely upon the installation of new cable and wire in various sections, but should be completed rapidly.

Douglass pointed out that all subscribers who are changed from one office to another will have number changes and that new dialing arrangements have been set up for all local offices, permitting direct dialing of many calls now handled by operators.

New Directories

"New directories have been distributed to all Lower Bucks County subscribers containing all the new listings, and complete dialing instructions for all offices," he said. "We suggest checking with the directory prior to making calls for the first few days the new system is in operation, and also bringing up-to-date any personal lists of frequently called numbers."

Douglass added that as an additional benefit from the opening of the new Windsor office, more equipment for expansion will be available in the Bristol, Langhorne and Morrisville central offices. This will be the equipment which has been used for the subscribers being transferred to Windsor and it will be put into service again for new subscribers in the other offices as rapidly as possible.

Sending Surplus Food Abroad Is Aid Child Can Appreciate

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

OUT of the black clouds of fear and anxiety over the Kremlin's threat to us and our children, has come a brilliant ray of hope for peace through ways of love.

First let me make it clear that I'm not arguing for relaxation of our defenses. Rather, I see grave danger lest our nation and our allies be tempted to relax in this direction. We must face reality. But while we continue to grow strong in our material defenses, we can also cultivate a moral strength which will, in the long run, multiply our national strength.

Generous Contributions

Out of the taxes we have paid in the United States, we have most generously contributed economic aid, including food and defense equipment, to our allies, helping them to help themselves. Now springing from various sources of the nation, especially from some of our national representatives in the House and Senate, is the suggestion that we give some of our surplus foods to the people behind the Iron Curtain, especially to those in the Russian satellite countries.

While it is natural that politics has motivated some who have pressed this idea, we can be proud that our President, as our chief national leader, has given strong aproval and utterance to it. Indeed, he has asked the Congress to give him unlimited power to distribute foods wherever he may see fit. While the Congress opposed this suggestion pretty strongly at first, more and more of its members are approving it.

The suggestion has a practical appeal to many of us, since the pile of surplus foods bought up to support our farmers is mounting and spoiling. It would be better, it seems, to give it to starving persons than to let it rot. And how can the people so much in need of food, including those whose governments have not considered our government their friend, refuse it?

Children Can Understand

Here's something which our children can understand. It gives an outlet to their best and kindest feelings.

I can imagine millions of children talking about this matter now in camps and church schools, and later when they come together at school in September. I'd also like to think that it's being discussed in family groups, stimulated by what is heard on the air or read in the newspapers. See what it might do to cultivate unselfishness in our homes among our growing children.

Official Urges Cleanup of Lots

An appeal was made to owners of vacant lots in Bristol borough yesterday to cut weeds and clean up the lots as soon as possible by William H. Pearson, chairman of the borough's street and highway committee.

Pearson said the lots present an unsightly appearance in addition to providing hazards and inviting the settling of mosquitoes.

Training Blaze

One of the purposes of the training blaze was to give firemen a sense of timing. The blaze was clocked at a duration of 17 minutes from start to the point where the cave-in of the structure began.

Firemen had hoses unfurled while they watched ready to direct a stream of water at any vagrant spark that might endanger property.

There was nothing left to mark the site of the two old frame structures but fine black ash and some scattered charred embers today.

Police Hold Driver On Drunk Charge

EMILIE, Aug. 27 — Owen H. Johnston, 63, of 1843 Bristol pike, Croydon, is being detained in Bristol Borough jail to await a hearing on charges of operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor.

Bristol Township police said Johnston failed to halt when a car ahead, operated by Kenneth Hollingsworth, 25, of Bristol pike, Cornwells, was making a left turn into Newport road at Route 13 and ran into the rear of Hollingsworth's car.

Both vehicles were traveling east on Route 13 when the incident occurred last night at 11 p. m.

Police took Johnston to Bristol General Hospital for examination. He was pronounced intoxicated.

Hollingsworth's car was damaged in the rear and Johnston's in the front.

Bank Men Differ On Merger Proposal

Opinions on cross-county bank mergers differ from banker to banker, Norman Hayes, a vice-president of the Philadelphia National Bank, commented yesterday on a protest action taken by the Bucks County Bankers Association.

The bankers association adopted a resolution scoring the proposed cross-county merger of the Philadelphia National Bank with the First National Bank of Conshohocken. The association resolved to "vigorously . . . oppose any efforts to weaken unit banking system by extension of branch banking beyond county lines of the home office."

Hayes said he had no comment when first contacted, then added that it was a matter of different opinion and not one-sided.

The proposed merger was approved by the two banks July 21. Stockholders are scheduled to vote on the matter Sept. 16. If approved the merger becomes effective Sept. 25. Each share of Conshohocken bank stock would be exchanged for a share of the Philadelpia bank stock.

SPECIAL EDITION ANNOUNCEMENT

The special "Meet Your Neighbor" edition of THE BRISTOL COURIER, previously announced for September 16, will be published on September 30 instead.

This edition will be distributed, door to door, to a minimum of 25,000 homes in Lower Bucks County, giving the first blanket coverage ever offered in this area.

Two reasons dictated the change in date. One is the fact that new mechanical facilities will be available by September 30 which will not be finished September 16. The other is our desire to give all advertisers who are interested in this special edition full opportunity to make best use of it.

Early response to the plan has been unprecedented. One of the first orders taken is for a tabloid insert using substantially a fourth of the space originally planned for the whole edition.

Advertisers wishing to be included are urged to make early reservations of space, since for reasons of mechanical limitations, THE BRISTOL COURIER will decline to accept orders beyond what it considers to be its capacity.

Advertising copy deadline will be 12 o'clock noon, September 23.

Phone Company

scribers are people in Levittown, Fairless Hills and vicinity, who are now receiving service from either the Bristol, Langhorne, or Morrisville central offices and who will be transferred to Windsor early Sunday morning.

A second group will be those in the same category who, for technical reasons, cannot be transferred immediately, but will be transferred within the next few weeks. These total about 800.

Phones Pre-Wired

A third group will be about 2200 persons who do not have service now, but who have had their telephones pre-wired and will be given service Sunday morning by a simple connection in the new office. There are still others who will be connected as rapidly as new cable lines can be installed.

The telephones of all those receiving service Sunday morning are now connected to the new dial facilities, Douglass said, but the connections are "blocked" by small "tools" which are held between springs. Each tool has a string connected to it and the strings are gathered together in large groups, so that a single pull of a master string will pull out hundreds of tools.

The manager also explained that many of the subscribers now served from other offices, are actually served by lines which were built for central office lines, but were pressed into service as subscriber lines in order to provide as much service as possible until the new office opened. These lines, after the "cutover," will be used for Bristol-Windsor, Langhorne-Windsor, and Morrisville-Windsor calls.

When the time comes for the "cutover," Bell central office men in the Bristol, Langhorne and Morrisville offices will cut the lines of the subscribers who are to be transferred to Windsor. When that is completed, in a few seconds, the signal will be given to the new office.

Will Change Lines

Then a special operation will be done which will change the subscriber lines into central office lines and the important signal will be given.

The strings will be pulled, the "tools" will snap out, the springs which held them will go together, and the connections will have been completed in the new Windsor dial apparatus.

A little later, other strings will pull out other "tools" and connections will be completed for the "pre-installed" telephones of those who have been waiting for service.

Douglass said that where possible operators would warn callers that the "cutover" was coming, starting about ten minutes before it occurs.

Few Calls

"However," he explained, "there are normally very few calls in progress at 1 a. m. Sunday, which is one of the reasons that time was picked. We don't expect any telephone will be out of service for more than a short time. The central office men will work well into Sunday morning testing the new equipment and connecting central office lines so that by 7 o'clock Sunday morning the system will be in full operation."

The remaining customers who are to be transferred to the Windsor office will have it done on a "line-by-line" basis over the next several weeks. The timing will depend largely upon the installation of new cable and wire in various sections, but should be completed rapidly.

Douglass pointed out that all subscribers who are changed from one office to another will have number changes and that new dialing arrangements have been set up for all local offices, permitting direct dialing of many calls now handled by operators.

New Directories

"New directories have been distributed to all Lower Bucks County subscribers containing all the new listings, and complete dialing instructions for all offices," he said. "We suggest checking with the directory prior to making calls for the first few days the new system is in operation, and also bringing up-to-date any personal lists of frequently called numbers."

Douglass added that as an additional benefit from the opening of the new Windsor office, more equipment for expansion will be available in the Bristol, Langhorne and Morrisville central offices. This will be the equipment which has been used for the subscribers being transferred to Windsor and it will be put into service again for new subscribers in the other offices as rapidly as possible.

Falls Authorities

connections, but can be increased at a later date to 5500 or 6000."

Completion is expected around October 15.

Two builders who requested permission to hook into the Authority's water mains were delayed in their efforts until today, at least.

LeDan heard requests from John Doheny and George Taylor, who have tracts of 13 and 93 acres resting in Falls Township. Both want to cut into the first service tap at the intersection of Tyburn road and Moon street.

Cite Cost

Tehy said the total cost of the venture, which would be borne by them, would amount to $14,635.80, figured at a cost of $4.50 per running foot of six-inch pipe.

LeDan asked the builders to present the figures "broken down" including costs of hydrants, valves, taps and mains at a future date.

Taylor and Doheny said they would bear the entire cost of the project providing the Authority reimbursed them on a percentage-of-water-rents-collected basis "until we realize our investment."

Sending Surplus Food Abroad Is Aid Child Can Appreciate

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

OUT of the black clouds of fear and anxiety over the Kremlin's threat to us and our children, has come a brilliant ray of hope for peace through ways of love.

First let me make it clear that I'm not arguing for relaxation of our defenses. Rather, I see grave danger lest our nation and our allies be tempted to relax in this direction. We must face reality. But while we continue to grow strong in our material defenses, we can also cultivate a moral strength which will, in the long run, multiply our national strength.

Generous Contributions

Out of the taxes we have paid in the United States, we have most generously contributed economic aid, including food and defense equipment, to our allies, helping them to help themselves. Now springing from various sources of the nation, especially from some of our national representatives in the House and Senate, is the suggestion that we give some of our surplus foods to the people behind the Iron Curtain, especially to those in the Russian satellite countries.

While it is natural that politics has motivated some who have pressed this idea, we can be proud that our President, as our chief national leader, has given strong aproval and utterance to it. Indeed, he has asked the Congress to give him unlimited power to distribute foods wherever he may see fit. While the Congress opposed this suggestion pretty strongly at first, more and more of its members are approving it.

The suggestion has a practical appeal to many of us, since the pile of surplus foods bought up to support our farmers is mounting and spoiling. It would be better, it seems, to give it to starving persons than to let it rot. And how can the people so much in need of food, including those whose governments have not considered our government their friend, refuse it?

Children Can Understand

Here's something which our children can understand. It gives an outlet to their best and kindest feelings.

I can imagine millions of children talking about this matter now in camps and church schools, and later when they come together at school in September. I'd also like to think that it's being discussed in family groups, stimulated by what is heard on the air or read in the newspapers. See what it might do to cultivate unselfishness in our homes among our growing children.

An appeal was made to owners of vacant lots in Bristol borough yesterday to cut weeds and clean up the lots as soon as possible by William H. Pearson, chairman of the borough's street and highway committee.

Pearson said the lots present an unsightly appearance in addition to providing hazards and inviting the settling of mosquitoes.

Today's Quiet Moment

The Rev. Glenn H. Wampole
Pastor
Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church

Phil. 1:9 as text — "And it is my prayer that your love may abound more and more, with knowledge and all discernment."

St. Paul was one of the most learned and educated men of his time. He realized that the spreading of the Gospel of Christ could be misdirected if it were not done intelligently. There are many people of whom Christ said, "They will cry, 'Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy Name, and in Thy Name cast out devils,' but in that day, I will profess to them, 'I do not know you, depart from Me, ye that work iniquity.'" It is our great job in the Christian world to preach and teach with knowledge and understanding, not in emotionalism and fanaticism. Each individual must wisely accept Christ for himself, and do so with the knowledge that that acceptance means sacrifice. It has been said that the need of the world today is universal conversion, but individual confession. Let us pray: O Spirit of the Living God, give unto us the wisdom and knowledge of Thy servant, Solomon, that we may not run after false doctrines nor pernicious faiths. Help us to discern the true Spirit of faith, love and righteousness. Purge out from within us all those qualities that destroy the fruits of the Spirit, and multiply our desire for learning more of Thee, that finally we may attain that grace where we can say with Thy servant, Paul, I have run the race, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course; henceforth, there is laid up for me in Heaven a crown of righteousness. In Thy Name we ask it. Amen

Today's Quiet Moment

The Rev. Glenn H. Wampole
Pastor
Zion Evangelical Lutheran Church

Phil. 1:9 as text — "And it is my prayer that your love may abound more and more, with knowledge and all discernment."

St. Paul was one of the most learned and educated men of his time. He realized that the spreading of the Gospel of Christ could be misdirected if it were not done intelligently. There are many people of whom Christ said, "They will cry, 'Lord, Lord, have we not prophesied in Thy Name, and in Thy Name cast out devils,' but in that day, I will profess to them, 'I do not know you, depart from Me, ye that work iniquity.'" It is our great job in the Christian world to preach and teach with knowledge and understanding, not in emotionalism and fanaticism. Each individual must wisely accept Christ for himself, and do so with the knowledge that that acceptance means sacrifice. It has been said that the need of the world today is universal conversion, but individual confession. Let us pray: O Spirit of the Living God, give unto us the wisdom and knowledge of Thy servant, Solomon, that we may not run after false doctrines nor pernicious faiths. Help us to discern the true Spirit of faith, love and righteousness. Purge out from within us all those qualities that destroy the fruits of the Spirit, and multiply our desire for learning more of Thee, that finally we may attain that grace where we can say with Thy servant, Paul, I have run the race, I have kept the faith, I have finished my course; henceforth, there is laid up for me in Heaven a crown of righteousness. In Thy Name we ask it. Amen

The Duo-Brush Technique Is Recommended for Short Hair

Movie Star Coleen Gray demonstrates a duo-brushing routine: stroke the hair with each brush going in the same direction.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IT IS possible that women can learn something about beauty from men. You don't believe it? Stop being doubtful, because it's true.

No doubt you have watched the man of the family using military brushes on his hair—what there is of it. Do likewise, says a famous Hollywood glamour authority. He recommends this treatment especially to girls with the three-inch cut. This is a style which, when beautifully curled, produces a cherubic effect that suits some little cuties wonderfully.

Penetrating Bristles

You cannot skim a brush over the outer surface strands of your hair and consider you have done a thorough, effective job of brushing. The bristles of the brush should penetrate deeply into the brain wool.

Two brushes used on short hair are better than one. A brush in each hand, groom your tresses in the same direction. You will average twice as many strokes.

Women, says the Hollywood expert, have only been wearing short hair for a few years. They have not yet learned the true value of the duo-brush routine men have followed for years.

No Rough Treatment

The strokes should be slow enough and smooth enough so as to remove loose shafts from your scalp. They should not be fast, furious ones; your glorious mop does not particularly care for being treated rough.

When starting to brush, don't slap the bristles vigorously on your scalp. Just slapping the hair does no good. It can even irritate the scalp. Press the bristles firmly into your hair and then sweep out to the ends.

Brush from any and all directions. Start from the parting and sweep downward. Make other partings and do the same thing. Throw your head forward and work upward from the neck. All this grooming will give your locks life and lustre.

The Duo-Brush Technique Is Recommended for Short Hair

Movie Star Coleen Gray demonstrates a duo-brushing routine: stroke the hair with each brush going in the same direction.

By HELEN FOLLETT

IT IS possible that women can learn something about beauty from men. You don't believe it? Stop being doubtful, because it's true.

No doubt you have watched the man of the family using military brushes on his hair—what there is of it. Do likewise, says a famous Hollywood glamour authority. He recommends this treatment especially to girls with the three-inch cut. This is a style which, when beautifully curled, produces a cherubic effect that suits some little cuties wonderfully.

Penetrating Bristles

You cannot skim a brush over the outer surface strands of your hair and consider you have done a thorough, effective job of brushing. The bristles of the brush should penetrate deeply into the brain wool.

Two brushes used on short hair are better than one. A brush in each hand, groom your tresses in the same direction. You will average twice as many strokes.

Women, says the Hollywood expert, have only been wearing short hair for a few years. They have not yet learned the true value of the duo-brush routine men have followed for years.

No Rough Treatment

The strokes should be slow enough and smooth enough so as to remove loose shafts from your scalp. They should not be fast, furious ones; your glorious mop does not particularly care for being treated rough.

When starting to brush, don't slap the bristles vigorously on your scalp. Just slapping the hair does no good. It can even irritate the scalp. Press the bristles firmly into your hair and then sweep out to the ends.

Brush from any and all directions. Start from the parting and sweep downward. Make other partings and do the same thing. Throw your head forward and work upward from the neck. All this grooming will give your locks life and lustre.

Girls' Hockey Team Attends Day Camp At Beaver College

Twenty candidates of the Bristol High School girls' hockey team are attending the Towers Hockey Day Camp at Beaver College campus, Glenside, this week.

The girls are receiving instructions by a staff of international and All-American hockeyists with a background of school and college coaching.

Instructing the Bristol girls have been Mrs. Eleanor Pepper Murk, former All-American, and Mrs. Mary W. Lauffer, of Melrose Park. On several occasions, the Bristol girls have been tested from the striking circle and on dribbling.

Yesterday, a group of Miss Barbara Yerkes' lassies played a picked team from the other schools attending the camp. Mary Lattanzi, Bristol, scored the only goal made in the tilt.

Girls' coach, Miss Yerkes, announced that the following girls are attending the camp: Seniors, Nancy Almond, Martha Snyder, Mary Lattanzi and Mary Ellen Tentilucci; Juniors, Mary Galione, Hilda Hamm, and Marie Rubino; Sophomores, Jogina Diamanti, Marion Crosby, and Dardyn Brennan; Freshmen, Beatrice Massielo, Sonya Diamanti, Rosemarie DiLorenzo, Judy Prossic, Judy Vandegrift, Mary Ann Torano, Joyce White, Joan Holden, Barbara Taylor, and Lorraine Crosby.

Auto Boys, Kaiser Hit 8-8 Deadlock in Tilt

Auto Boys and Kaiser Metal played to an 8-8 deadlock last evening in a quarter-final game of the Bristol Softball League on Memorial field. The game has been rescheduled for tomorrow evening.

The Kaisermen "blew" a 6-0 lead in enabling the Mill Streeters to tie the count. Auto Boys had a 7-6 lead after scoring all their runs in the fifth but Frankie Rich's homer put Kaiser Metal in the lead in the sixth. However, the department store boys knotted the count in the top of the eighth.

Both hurlers, "Bill" Wigham, Auto Boys, and Vince DiMuccie, Kaiser, went the distance. Wigham was tagged for 10 hits, including Rich's four-bagger. DiMuccie allowed 8 hits, one of which was a "freak" homer by Joe Frank.

Hits Divided

The Kaiser hits were divided among four players—George Wallace, Sammy Sottille, Lou Sassi, and Rich. Fred Costantino had three hits for Auto Boys with Chuck Klein getting two.

The aircraft workers committed four errors, two coming in the Auto Boys big fifth. Auto Boys made two miscues.

Kaiser went into the lead in the second, scoring a quintet of tallies. George Wallace led off with a hit past first base. Sam Sottille's Texas-leaguer went over second for a single. Jack Walker bunted but Wigham threw too late to third to get Wallace, the bags being loaded. Rich singled past Tony Cauti, Wallace and Sottille scoring. DeMucci sacrificed. Sassi hit to Wigham who threw wild to first, Walker and Rich crossing. Sassi went to second on the error. Sassi stole third and dented the plate on a wild pitch.

Kaiser made it 6-0 with another marker in the third. After Jim Sottille bounced out, Wallace got his second hit, a line single to right. He went to second on a wild pitch and moved to third while Joe Sallustio was throwing out Sam Sottille. A wild pitch enabled Wallace to score. Walker then flied out.

Seven Tallies

Seven big tallies put Auto Boys in front in the fifth. Sallustio rolled out. Charlie Uhland flied to Walker who dropped the ball for an error. Horace Saxton hit to DeMuccie who errored. Costantino loaded the sacks with a hit. Ray Pierandozzi was thrown out by Jim Sottille, Peltz, a pinchrunner, scoring. Tony Cauti walked to again fill the cushions. Wigham scored two more with a hit to left. Klein hit safely to right, Costantino scoring. Frank's blooper over first dropped away from Sottille's glove and rolled into foul territory. Before the ball could be retrieved and thrown to the catcher, the runner had circled the bases for a homer. Sallustio, up for the second time, grounded out.

The lead stood up until the last of the sixth when Sam Sottille got his third hit, a single to left. Walker sacrificed him to second. Rich got off a nice smash between left and center for a circuit smash, Kaiser going ahead, 8-7.

In the top of the eighth, Fred Costantino hit to left and by fast legging stretched it into a double. Costantino remained at second while Wallace tossed out Pierandozzi. Cauti was also thrown out by Wallace but Costantino did some fine footwork in scoring from second on the play, tieing the game.

"The New York Yankees have had chiropractors to take care of the health of their ball players since 1919" says Science Sidelights. "From 1919 to 1927, Dr. Al Woods was the chiropractor-trainer of the club. Since 1927, Dr. Earl V. Painter has assigned the task of keeping Colonel Ruppert's expensive players in the peak of condition. It was Dr. Painter who kept Joe Dugan in the game for a period of two years after his recent serious injury to his knee. Medical opinion declared that Dugan would never be able to play after his accident. It was Dr. Painter, skillfully applying Chiropractic, who showed that the Medics were wrong."

"Since the management of the New York Yankees have had chiropractors to maintain its players in top-rank condition," the commentator concludes, "they have begun to win League championships and World Series games."

Jefferson A. C. And Fifth Ward In Quarter Final

Another quarter-final game of the Bristol Softball League is scheduled for Memorial field this evening as Fifth Ward meets Jefferson A. C. Game will begin at six o'clock.

Fifth Ward, defending champions of the circuit, finished third in the season's race while Jefferson winded up in fifth position.

It is most likely that Manager Seddie Caro will throw in Stanley "Butch" Koreyva against the Jefferson boys with Johnny Ciambella doing the hurling for Manager Steve Ciotti's gang.

Manager Caro may have to do some juggling with his lineup as there is a possibility that his catcher, Danny Pieo, may be unable to play.

Manager Caro has the choice of: Mike Capriotti, John Brown Cordisco, Henry Liberatore, Joe Pica, Mike DeLisa, Joe Embiscuso, Smithers Cordisco, Vince DiTanna, Joe Stallone, Dave Ludwig, Don Bourne, and himself.

In addition to himself and John Ciambella, Manager Ciotti can use: Tom Ruggieri, Frank Sagolla, Al Ciambella, Frank Writer, Mike Perrone, Gene Ciambella, William Connors, Frank Palumbo, Nick Indelicato, Ralph Ciotti, Reggie Gerome, and Ken Martin.

Michigan Cyclist Enters 100-Mile Langhorne Race

LANGHORNE, Aug. 27 — Chet Dykgraaf of Grand Rapids, Mich., was among the latest to submit an entry for the 100-mile National Motorcycle Championship scheduled for the world-famous Langhorne Speedway, Sunday, Sept. 6. Langhorne will not be strange territory to the ace from Michigan for he was among the pacemakers throughout the '52 fixture and when the checkered bunting fell was riding in seventh spot.

The veteran cyclist, a metal polisher by trade, is considered to be a great competitor. Although he rides for cash awards, the midwestern broadslider would be every bit at home if a trophy or just glory was waiting at the end of the grind. He thrives on competition and that is just what he is in for when the flag drops, starting the "Experts" (pro cyclists) around the 'Horne in the 15th running of the AMA sanctioned century grind.

Dykgraaf will be opposing one of the keenest fields ever scheduled to face the starting flag in the event which saw its first running around the Bucks County oval in 1935. In addition to Dick Fisher, defending champion in the grind, there will be Gene Thiessen from Oregon; Gene Smith of Ft. Worth, Texas; George Sabine of Washington, D. C.; Rocky Burkhart of Reading, Pa., and Dick Klamfoth of Groveport, Ohio.

Saturday afternoon the novice riders will stage their championships around the Langhorne Speedway. On that day the amateurs and experts will prepare their mounts for the title grinds scheduled for the following day.

C. of C. Pledges To Aid Campaign For New Hospital

The Bristol-Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce Tuesday in the Municipal Building pledged its support to the Lower Bucks County Hospital Completion Fund. The C of C comprises some 400 members.

Also under discussion was the proposal by Mill street merchants to increase parking facilities in their area. Plans call for construction of a road from Old Route 13 across the city dump to the parking area and expansion of the present parking facilities. The C. of C. is backing the project.

Sept. 21 was set for the election of five members to the Board of Directors of the C of C to serve three year terms. A list of 10 candidates was submitted, but it was pointed out that additional nominations may be made in writing.

John W. Franks, secretary of the group, announced that the C of C has received 74 volumes of a city directory library which is available to the public. The library lists residents and business places in communities within 100 miles of here and in many cities in the South, Mid-West and New England states. Additional volumes will be received, Franks said.

Auto Boys, Kaiser Hit 8-8 Deadlock in Tilt

Auto Boys and Kaiser Metal played to an 8-8 deadlock last evening in a quarter-final game of the Bristol Softball League on Memorial field. The game has been rescheduled for tomorrow evening.

The Kaisermen "blew" a 6-0 lead in enabling the Mill Streeters to tie the count. Auto Boys had a 7-6 lead after scoring all their runs in the fifth but Frankie Rich's homer put Kaiser Metal in the lead in the sixth. However, the department store boys knotted the count in the top of the eighth.

Both hurlers, "Bill" Wigham, Auto Boys, and Vince DiMuccie, Kaiser, went the distance. Wigham was tagged for 10 hits, including Rich's four-bagger. DiMuccie allowed 8 hits, one of which was a "freak" homer by Joe Frank.

Hits Divided

The Kaiser hits were divided among four players—George Wallace, Sammy Sottille, Lou Sassi, and Rich. Fred Costantino had three hits for Auto Boys with Chuck Klein getting two.

The aircraft workers committed four errors, two coming in the Auto Boys big fifth. Auto Boys made two miscues.

Kaiser went into the lead in the second, scoring a quintet of tallies. George Wallace led off with a hit past first base. Sam Sottille's Texas-leaguer went over second for a single. Jack Walker bunted but Wigham threw too late to third to get Wallace, the bags being loaded. Rich singled past Tony Cauti, Wallace and Sottille scoring. DeMucci sacrificed. Sassi hit to Wigham who threw wild to first, Walker and Rich crossing. Sassi went to second on the error. Sassi stole third and dented the plate on a wild pitch.

Kaiser made it 6-0 with another marker in the third. After Jim Sottille bounced out, Wallace got his second hit, a line single to right. He went to second on a wild pitch and moved to third while Joe Sallustio was throwing out Sam Sottile. A wild pitch enabled Wallace to score. Walker then flied out.

Seven Tallies

Seven big tallies put Auto Boys in front in the fifth. Sallustio rolled out. Charlie Uhland flied to Walker who dropped the ball for an error. Horace Saxton hit to DeMuccie who errored. Costantino loaded the sacks with a hit. Ray Pierandozzi was thrown out by Jim Sottille, Peltz, a pinchrunner, scoring. Tony Cauti walked to again fill the cushions. Wigham scored two more with a hit to left. Klein hit safely to right, Costantino scoring. Frank's blooper over first dropped away from Sottille's glove and rolled into foul territory. Before the ball could be retrieved and thrown to the catcher, the runner had circled the bases for a homer. Sallustio, up for the second time, grounded out.

The lead stood up until the last of the sixth when Sam Sottille got his third hit, a single to left. Walker sacrificed him to second. Rich got off a nice smash between left and center for a circuit smash, Kaiser going ahead, 8-7.

In the top of the eighth, Fred Costantino hit to left and by fast legging stretched it into a double. Costantino remained at second while Wallace tossed out Pierandozzi. Cauti was also thrown out by Wallace but Costantino did some fine footwork in scoring from second on the play, tieing the game.

Woman Board Member

Mrs. James Slater, only woman on the Board of Directors of the Levittown Civic Association and active in Levittown affairs.

Mrs. Slater Urges Civic Participation

"Women of Levittown should take an active part in the Civic Association and I very definitely feel that more women are needed on the board of directors." These are the words of Mrs. James Slater, the only woman on the board, at present.

When interviewed in the attractive living room of her Sunnybrook home, Mrs. Slater admitted that she had no intention of running for the board two years ago, but two of the men in the association talked her into it. Her term of office expires in May.

Mrs. Slater and her husband, James, an industrial waste disposal operator at Kaiser Metal Products, Inc., have lived in Levittown since July 11, 1952. They were the 16th couple to choose a plot for a house and the 78th to move in.

Tells Of Purchase

Mrs. Slater laughed as she told about the day she arranged to buy in Levittown. It was at Christmas time and she had orders of candy to deliver for the Amaranth. It was necessary to go through a Levittown house on the way to the office. "I rushed through the house, paid the deposit and the man at the desk asked me if I didn't think it was a lovely house. I had to tell him that I didn't know, because I hadn't looked at it. Then I went back and looked and I liked it."

There is a saying among Levittown residents about their community—you either love it or hate it. Mrs. Slater enthusiastically classes herself in the second group. She said, "I've only met two in a year that don't like Levittown."

Mrs. Slater has an excellent opportunity to meet her fellow Levittown residents. She is a demonstrator of the washing machines that are installed in Levittown homes. She said, "I like to meet people and I've met so many different people here. Just about everybody is nice."

Bristol Native

A native of Bristol, Mrs. Slater has been active in the Civic Association since its beginnings. She and her husband went to the first meeting ever held and that night she signed up for the welcoming committee. This gave her an opportunity to meet her new neighbors. "We made our first friends on that committee. Many of the people the committee met are now members of the association," she said.

"The association was just a gripe committee in the beginning," Mrs. Slater remembered. "Now I think it is the beginning of a Levittown governing body." She has been interested and active in solving just about every problem that has come along.

Distribution of swimming identification cards to Levittown residents was one of the bigger problems. "I put in a lot of hours pounding the sidewalks then," she admitted. Right now she is concerned with the kindergarten problem. However, she feels that there are no big problems at present, but a lot of small ones that can be ironed out.

Work Satisfying

"Working on the board has been satisfying," she continued. "After almost two years, things are beginning to roll."

The former Elizabeth Mariner of Bristol, Mrs. Slater was born and raised here. Her mother, Mrs. Benjamin Broadbridge, lives on Washington street. Mrs. Slater was in the 1936 graduating class of Bristol High School. She attended Rider College for two years. For three years she was an insurance agent in Bristol.

In addition to her work on the board of directors, Mrs. Slater serves on the house committee for Watts Home. She is matron of the Bristol Chapter of the Amaranth and a member of the Eastern Star. In what little spare time she has, she likes to work in her flower garden.

Woman Board Member

Mrs. James Slater, only woman on the Board of Directors of the Levittown Civic Association and active in Levittown affairs.

Mrs. Slater Urges Civic Participation

"Women of Levittown should take an active part in the Civic Association and I very definitely feel that more women are needed on the board of directors." These are the words of Mrs. James Slater, the only woman on the board, at present.

When interviewed in the attractive living room of her Sunnybrook home, Mrs. Slater admitted that she had no intention of running for the board two years ago, but two of the men in the association talked her into it. Her term of office expires in May.

Kidney Slow-Down May Bring Restless Nights

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, headaches, dizziness and loss of pep and energy. Don't suffer restless nights with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?—I Co. 1:20.

The theories propounded by ancient wise men regarding the earth and its phenomena are laughable now, but we do not know everything yet by a very wide margin. ,

MORE THAN HYPNOTISM

Is $15,000,000 the price of peace? Will the carrot dangling before the Soviet oppressed succeed in bringing about collapse of the Communist house of cards? Or is the U. S. in the position of the archer who, having shot an arrow in the air, must wait for it to land, he knows not where?

In harrassing the Reds the food maneuver in Germany has exceeded most optimistic expectations. It has forced the Reds into one political error after another and is doubtless serving as a tonic in the undergrounds of all the satellite peoples. But sooner or later the Communists may succeed in stamping out the uprisings. Thus it is imperative that U. S. policy makers ask themselves this question now: Where do we go from here?

At the moment the public mind appears to be hypnotized between two poles—inevitable war with Russia or eventual revolution within the Red empire. Neither offers a satisfactory solution to the dilemma of a world half slave and a world half free, nor does a third alternative—appeasement—which the Reds would regard as an invitation to further aggrandizement.

Yet there has to be a settlement if there is not to be war, rebellion or sellout. The challenge to American leadership is to develop a positive, imaginative program to force the Kremlin to settle on the West's terms.

Invent An Adult Toy And Make A Buck

NEW YORK, Aug. 27, (INS)—Wanna make a fortune? Say, a half-million in legal tender?

The recipe I have here says just go down in the basement to the old work bench and invent a toy with which grown-ups can play in public and not feel silly.

It is estimated that this recipe will make about a half-million in money for Fritz Wigal, a shy, personable young man, who is the inventor of the Yogi Bird.

So you never heard of the Yogi Bird? That means you are not a member of saloon society. Mr. Wigal, whom I met the other day, says his bird is doing more to liven up the saloon set than anything since the invention of the martini.

The Yogi Bird is a plastic facsimile of a red-winged blackbird or a tufted titmouse which, unlike the real thing, is so talented that it can walk up the walls and across the ceiling of any room.

As you can see, its possibilities in a cocktail lounge are endless. A man already half-way under the table who sees a ruffled yellow-breasted grosbeak proceeding at stately pace across the ceiling may be too unnerved to ask for another martini.

One of the wonders of his invention to Mr. Wigal, a sober, serious engineer, is not only that it will make him a fortune but that it may do more for sobriety than Carrie Nation. And, again, it may not.

In reality, Mr. Wigal and his Yogi Bird are the American dream, which keep coming true with remarkable regularity despite the pessimists who say opportunity doesn't knock any more.

Ever since Mr. Wigal was graduated from the Engineering School of the University of West Virgina and landed a job with the B. F. Goodrich Rubber Co., 13 years ago, he has invented toys in his spare time.

On company time, he did laboratory research on chemicals, with ensuing patents assigned to the rubber company. But at home he worked on a clown that could do tricks on a gymnastic bar and on a magnetic top that walked down a wall.

"Then in 1949, I began working on the Yogi Bird," said Mr. Wigal, who looks like a particularly nice quarterback with brown eyes and curly hair. "I had a friend who owned a parakeet. It was so much fun that I thought it would be nice if kids could have a facsimile."

Finally, by the spring of 1952, the inventor thought the Yogi Bird had been polished until it has possibilities for kids, (he never dreamed it would fascinate grown-ups and practical jokers.) So he wrapped it up and sent it to Tigrett Enterprises, toy specialists in Jackson, Tenn.

Then Mr. Wigal went off to Tokyo on business for the Goodrich people. And it was there that his excited lawyer phoned him to say that this firm was trying to force money and a contract on the party of the first part.

Production of the Yogi Bird started only last June in a factory that now ships from 75,000 to 100,000 of the fool things daily! Tigrett has licensed companies in Brazil, Canada, France, England, Germany, Italy, Australia and the Scandinavian countries to manufacture a toy that threatens to become as universial as the yo-yo.

In the meantime, Mr. Wigal, calm in the yogi storm, has quit the Goodrich company and is now devoting all his time to the invention of bigger and better toys in a laboratory built for him in Jackson, Tenn.

Two things are certain: Yogi is going to make him a fortune and he has invented the most popular bird since that on Nellie's hat.

"WASHINGTON REPORT"

by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

(Copyright, 1952, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27 — One thing was proven, conclusively, by Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, in hs recent statements before the house un-American activities committee: that he has no realistic concept of the gravity of subversive activities in the United States, or of the assistance he has given them.

Consider, for example, his defense, that as soon as he found that organizations were communist controlled, he resigned from them. Furthermore, that he repeatedly proclaimed his anti - communist sentiments, and sponsored anti-communist resolutions in important church organizations.

With the guilelessness of a schoolgirl, that seemed to be the alpha and omega of the whole matter.

LEWIS, JR.

He gave no clue of having even an inkling of the adult truth that for the time he was in those organizations, his name and the prestige of his position gave immeasurable dignity and prestige and respectability to those organizations, and helped them to persuade other of his kind to lend their names, and support.

Or the fact that his withdrawal from them was never publicized, so the effect of his association continued indefinitely.

It seemed never to dawn on him that the very public professions of anti-communism, which he used in his defense, made him an even greater asset to the communist organizations which used him. If this man, Bishop of the cloth and outspoken critic of communism and marxism, had given his sanction to a cause, the cause must indeed be above suspicion.

The bishop objected, basically to the files which the committee keeps, listing the public affiliations of individuals with communist and subversive organizations. The reasoning is difficult to follow. All of these affiliations are public information, a matter of record in newspaper files, statements for the press, letter heads, programs of meetings. His contention is that they be gathered together in one place, accessible to public perusal.

And inasmuch as they were gathered together, in his case, he contends that with them should be various honors which had been bestowed upon him. He cited:

Appointment by the joint chiefs of staff to join the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations in World War II.

Appointment to Navy Secretary Forrestal's civilian advisory committee, wartime.

Award of Navy Certificate of Appreciation during the war.

Invitation to be guest of Greek Regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, and award of the Order of Phoenix by the King of Greece.

Representation of American churches at the enthronement of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Appointment as member of President's commission on higher education.

Chairman of the commission approved by the President to study post war religious conditions in Germany.

Presidency of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

One of the Presidents of the world council of churches.

These self-made claims to fame will be dealt with in the future, individually. I am interested in them, however, in that while Bishop Oxnam was taking these bows and accolades, I, too, happened to be doing some work in his Methodist Church — at the grass-roots. (I am not a Methodist, rather an Episcopalian.)

I claim no credit, because the benefit and pleasure it has given me, far outweigh the contributions, I am sure. Mine was the lot of spending thousands of hours of time, with country children in St. Mary's County, Maryland, instructing them in building their own church pipe organ, and personally trained them into a choir of top national reputation, which has attracted to their little hollywood church, the great and near great of the world.

It happens that Bishop Oxnam is the presiding bishop over my area. He knows of the project, and has never accorded the slightest word of recognition to it, or to the children. Yet he asks the above recognitions for himself, in committee files.

The fact is, the basic purpose in my work was to try indirectly to help some kids build themselves into good, God-fearing Americans. I did not find it necessary to join organizations from which I had to resign. I did not find it necessary to stumble into the sucker list of the communist front machinery.

On the contrary, the fact that Bishop Oxnam was so careless as to do so, made my task the harder.

Your Birthday by STELLA

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27—Born today, you are one of those practical industrious souls, who tackles a job and gets it done quickly and efficiently without appearing to work very hard. You have a good head for business and will probably accumulate something of a fortune before you have reached middle age. These characteristics, perhaps, are more developed in you men than in members of the fair sex who are more inclined to put their energies into social, philanthropic and club affairs, or into managing a home, much as men would manage a business.

Both you men and women have strong intuitions and should learn to follow them explicitly. Unless you recognize the influence which this characteristic can bear on your life, you may find yourself worrying and fretting over things and not knowing why. If you have a "hunch" not to do something, don't do it! You may not know why, at the time, but later on you will discover that your feelings were correct.

The stars indicate that you should have a very happy and harmonious marriage. You are one of those who might fall in love at first sight, and for you to wed in haste would not mean repenting at leisure. In romance, as in everything else, your intuition would prove true.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, August 28

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—See that you finish up all the projects which you started to do this month. Only a few days more to go.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—If your savings permit, you can now purchase the item you have been hoping to buy for a long time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Work may appear very unattractive just now, but there are jobs which have to be done, nevertheless.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—Haste can make waste today, so be deliberate and careful in everything you undertake. Take plenty of time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 20)—Get work at the office finished on time so that there is no loaded brief case to haunt you over the weekend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Undue experimentation or too much originality can cause trouble just now. Follow the blueprint carefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Don't act impulsively. Seek sound advice before embarking upon some new adventure, or you'll regret it.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Do one thing at a time—and that well—and you will complete all that needs to be done. Be conscientous.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—It looks like a very busy day for you, but you will be able to get everything done if you follow a concrete plan.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Keep your nose to the grindstone and no matter how dull work seems, get it done efficiently and on time.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—If you must use mechanical equipment today, see that it is in good repair to avoid chance of a possible injury.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Don't shirk any slightest part of your duty today. Things have to be done. Do them—even the unpleasant tasks.

State May Impose Own Income Tax, Chairman Warns

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27—(INS)—The chairman of Governor Fine's tax study committee warned bluntly today that Pennsylvania may "in the not too distant future" have to collect both a retail sales tax and a personal income tax unless expansion of state spending is halted.

Dr. Alfred G. Buehler said this conclusion was suggested by findings of his committee released in a bulky report before passage of the retail sales levy.

He addressed a special conference at the Warwick Hotel on the Pennsylvania sales tax sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia.

"While state expenditures have been rapidly rising," Buehler said, "The major general fund taxes on liquor, cigarettes, inheritance and corporations have been pushed to high levels.

"A study of the tax systems of 15 leading states," he added, "showed that Pennsylvania ranked at or near the top in the reliance placed upon each of these taxes, considering all the state and local taxes and liquor store profits."

Dr. Buehler, a University of Pennsylvania finance professor, also said that the estimated revenue from the sales tax, which becomes effective September 1, may prove to be too high.

"A tax with so many exemptions and its low rate can hardly be expected to return as much revenue as some of the retail sales taxes of other states, particularly during the period of infancy when full administrative efficiency has not yet been attained,' he said.

New Sears Store To Open Tuesday

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27 — Opening of the new Sears Roebuck and Company store in the shopping center here is set for Tuesday 9:45 a. m., according to announcement today by Victor Fischer, general manager of the store.

The store will employ about 90 salespeople and 25 extras, most of them Levittown residents. It will have 16,300 square feet of space on the main floor with expansion in the basement if business warrants, Fischer said.

During the first week the store will provide a free bus service through Friday. The first week's store hours will be between 10 a. m. and 9 p. m. until Friday and 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturday. Hours thereafter will be 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday and 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday and Friday.

Fischer, 44, started with Sears in Houston, Tex. 15 years ago. Prior to his present position he was salesmanager for the company in the Mid-Atlantic zone with offices in Philadelphia. He resides in Riverton, N. J.

It seemed never to dawn on him that the very public professions of anti-communism, which he used in his defense, made him an even greater asset to the communist organizations which used him. If this man, Bishop of the cloth and outspoken critic of communism and marxism, had given his sanction to a cause, the cause must indeed be above suspicion.

The bishop objected, basically to the files which the committee keeps, listing the public affiliations of individuals with communist and subversive organizations. The reasoning is difficult to follow. All of these affiliations are public information, a matter of record in newspaper files, statements for the press, letter heads, programs of meetings. His contention is that they be gathered together in one place, accessible to public perusal.

And inasmuch as they were gathered together, in his case, he contends that with them should be various honors which had been bestowed upon him. He cited:

Appointment by the joint chiefs of staff to join the Mediterranean and European theaters of operations in World War II.

Appointment to Navy Secretary Forrestal's civilian advisory committee, wartime.

Award of Navy Certificate of Appreciation during the war.

Invitation to be guest of Greek Regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, and award of the Order of Phoenix by the King of Greece.

Representation of American churches at the enthronement of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Appointment as member of President's commission on higher education.

Chairman of the commission approved by the President to study post war religious conditions in Germany.

Presidency of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

One of the Presidents of the world council of churches.

These self-made claims to fame will be dealt with in the future, individually. I am interested in them, however, in that while Bishop Oxnam was taking these bows and accolades, I, too, happened to be doing some work in his Methodist Church — at the grass-roots. (I am not a Methodist, rather an Episcopalian.)

I claim no credit, because the benefit and pleasure it has given me, far outweigh the contributions, I am sure. Mine was the lot of spending thousands of hours of time, with country children in St. Mary's County, Maryland, instructing them in building their own church pipe organ, and personally trained them into a choir of top national reputation, which has attracted to their little hollywood church, the great and near great of the world.

It happens that Bishop Oxnam is the presiding bishop over my area. He knows of the project, and has never accorded the slightest word of recognition to it, or to the children. Yet he asks the above recognitions for himself, in committee files.

The fact is, the basic purpose in my work was to try indirectly to help some kids build themselves into good, God-fearing Americans. I did not find it necessary to join organizations from which I had to resign. I did not find it necessary to stumble into the sucker list of the communist front machinery.

On the contrary, the fact that Bishop Oxnam was so careless as to do so, made my task the harder.

Your Birthday by STELLA II

THURSDAY, AUGUST 27—Born today, you are one of those practical industrious souls, who tackles a job and gets it done quickly and efficiently without appearing to work very hard. You have a good head for business and will probably accumulate something of a fortune before you have reached middle age. These characteristics, perhaps, are more developed in you men than in members of the fair sex who are more inclined to put their energies into social, philanthropic and club affairs, or into managing a home, much as men would manage a business.

Both you men and women have strong intuitions and should learn to follow them explicitly. Unless you recognize the influence which this characteristic can bear on your life, you may find yourself worrying and fretting over things and not knowing why. If you have a "hunch" not to do something, don't do it! You may not know why, at the time, but later on you will discover that your feelings were correct.

The stars indicate that you should have a very happy and harmonious marriage. You are one of those who might fall in love at first sight, and for you to wed in haste would not mean repenting at leisure. In romance, as in everything else, your intuition would prove true.

To find what the stars have in store for tomorrow, select your birthday star and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Friday, August 28

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—See that you finish up all the projects which you started to do this month. Only a few days more to go.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—If your savings permit, you can now purchase the item you have been hoping to buy for a long time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Work may appear very unattractive just now, but there are jobs which have to be done, nevertheless.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 23)—Haste can make waste today, so be deliberate and careful in everything you undertake. Take plenty of time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 24-Jan. 20)—Get work at the office finished on time so that there is no loaded brief case to haunt you over the weekend.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Undue experimentation or too much originality can cause trouble just now. Follow the blueprint carefully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-Mar. 20)—Don't act impulsively. Seek sound advice before embarking upon some new adventure, or you'll regret it.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 20)—Do one thing at a time—and that well—and you will complete all that needs to be done. Be conscientous.

TAURUS (Apr. 21-May 21)—It looks like a very busy day for you, but you will be able to get everything done if you follow a concrete plan.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Keep your nose to the grindstone and no matter how dull work seems, get it done efficiently and on time.

State May Impose Own Income Tax, Chairman Warns

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27—(INS)—The chairman of Governor Fine's tax study committee warned bluntly today that Pennsylvania may "in the not too distant future" have to collect both a retail sales tax and a personal income tax unless expansion of state spending is halted.

Dr. Alfred G. Buehler said this conclusion was suggested by findings of his committee released in a bulky report before passage of the retail sales levy.

He addressed a special conference at the Warwick Hotel on the Pennsylvania sales tax sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce of Greater Philadelphia.

"While state expenditures have been rapidly rising," Buehler said, "The major general fund taxes on liquor, cigarettes, inheritance and corporations have been pushed to high levels.

"A study of the tax systems of 15 leading states," he added, "showed that Pennsylvania ranked at or near the top in the reliance placed upon each of these taxes, considering all the state and local taxes and liquor store profits."

Dr. Buehler, a University of Pennsylvania finance professor, also said that the estimated revenue from the sales tax, which becomes effective September 1, may prove to be too high.

"A tax with so many exemptions and its low rate can hardly be expected to return as much revenue as some of the retail sales taxes of other states, particularly during the period of infancy when full administrative efficiency has not yet been attained," he said.

New Sears Store To Open Tuesday

LEVITTOWN, Aug. 27 — Opening of the new Sears Roebuck and Company store in the shopping center here is set for Tuesday 9:45 a. m., according to announcement today by Victor Fischer, general manager of the store.

The store will employ about 90 salespeople and 25 extras, most of them Levittown residents. It will have 16,300 square feet of space on the main floor with expansion in the basement if business warrants, Fischer said.

During the first week the store will provide a free bus service through Friday. The first week's store hours will be between 10 a. m. and 9 p. m. until Friday and 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Saturday. Hours thereafter will be 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Saturday and 10 a. m. to 9 p. m. Thursday and Friday.

Fischer, 44, started with Sears in Houston, Tex. 15 years ago. Prior to his present position he was salesmanager for the company in the Mid-Atlantic zone with offices in Philadelphia. He resides in Riverton, N. J.

Bee Decline Worries Federal Farm Men

Is the bee population in this country on the decline? Federal agricultural agents seem to think so.

In release last week they expressed alarm over the situation. It's not honey the agents are worried about, it's pollination, an activity of bees that's necessary to agriculture. The culprit, according to the federal men is insecticides, such as DDT.

Doubts It's Serious

Paul Rothrock, assistant Bucks county agent, doubts the seriousness of the problem, at least where Bucks county is concerned. "We haven't had too much of a problem in Bucks county," he said. "I don't know that DDT has too much to do with it. I think it is more likely to be a lack of bees in an area in the first place."

"If a farmer were spraying and he hit a bee directly, it would kill it," he continued. "However, that type of situation would affect a relatively small portion of the bee population."

Rothrock went on to explain that bees are necessary to the fertilization of fruit trees and that many orchard owners will rent a swarm of bees from a beekeeper to make certain that pollution does take place. He explained that an orchard owner is well aware of the bee situation in the area and knows if there are bees within a mile radius.

No Problem

Mrs. Darlington Styer, Linton Hill road, Newtown, who with her husband runs a peach and apple orchard has noticed no problem this year with pollination. "We have a good crop of peaches and more apples than we have ever had before," she said. "We have read about the pollination problem and are aware of it, but we have had no trouble. However, we use no more DDT than necessary."

Rev. Albert L. Glass, assistant pastor at St. Mark's Church and local bookkeeper has been interested in the effect the mosquito spraying program would have on his bees. "I haven't noticed any effect as yet", he said, "I don't think there is enough to bother."

He has heard of a bookkeeper, a former resident of Edgely, having trouble because of insecticides. "This man told me he had taken his bees out into the country, because the spray he used on his vegetable garden was affecting them", Rev. Glass said.

Garden Notes

By Walter Pitzonka, Jr.

In preparation for fall and winter, every home gardener should form his own compost pile. In other words, don't collect the dead leaves and form piles to burn. Burning leaves is just like burning money. Everyone knows that leaves contains great supplies of the essential elements besides being entirely organic matrial. If all your organic material were placed in a pile, then allowed to rot down, you would then have one of the best supplies of organic material possible.

Last week, I mentioned that a new organic plant food and conditioner was coming to this area. Well, it is here at last. It might be suggested to use it on your lawn and garden this fall. This material is rich in natural gums and resins which link particles of clay, thus modifying the structure of the soil. This results in a loose, friable soil. Along with the natural gums this product has large inoculations of beneficial organisms which tend to reduce disease and supply nitrogen from the air.

The bacteria called Azotobacter and Rhizobium are two genera which are important in fixing nitrogen so it won't be wasted away. Azotobacter feed on organic material in the soil. They break down the organic material and release nitrogen. This in turn is put into an available state for the plants or trees. Rhizobium belong to a genera of bacteria which fixes the nitrogen released by Azotobacter into a form only available by the plants. Rhizobium not only fixes the nitrogen from organic material but fixes the nitrogen available from the air.

This is the last week of the year that pansy seed can be planted. We have been planting pansies since July 28. These pansies sowed this week will be ready for transplanting by about November 10. It will be important for you to get the seed in if you are interested in pansy plants for your garden next spring.

Don't forget to get your house plants repotted soon because if the plants are potted now, they will be well established before you bring them in this fall. Remember that we might have a frost in a few weeks so don't take any chances. In fact, I would take house plants in at least by September 15. Usually in this temperature belt, however, there is no killing frost until October 15. This is an average, not a true factual time. In central Pennsylvania, Philipsburg has had a frost already. This means that their tomatoes, marigolds, petunias and other annual crops have been killed. Now aren't you glad you're in an area with such a late frost?

Better stop now and get some gardening done. Until next week, happy gardening.

Rhizobium belong to a genera of bacteria which fixes the nitrogen released by Azotobacter into a form only available by the plants. Rhizobium not only fixes the nitrogen from organic material but fixes the nitrogen available from the air.

This is the last week of the year that pansy seed can be planted. We have been planting pansies since July 28. These pansies sowed this week will be ready for transplanting by about November 10. It will be important for you to get the seed in if you are interested in pansy plants for your garden next spring.

Don't forget to get your house plants repotted soon because if the plants are potted now, they will be well established before you bring them in this fall. Remember that we might have a frost in a few weeks so don't take any chances. In fact, I would take house plants in at least by September 15. Usually in this temperature belt, however, there is no killing frost until October 15. This is an average, not a true factual time. In central Pennsylvania, Philipsburg has had a frost already. This means that their tomatoes, marigolds, petunias and other annual crops have been killed. Now aren't you glad you're in an area with such a late frost?

Better stop now and get some gardening done. Until next week, happy gardening.

Insure "Cow Comfort"

...with AUTOMATIC ELECTRIC VENTILATION

Automatic electric ventilation provides real cow comfort because barn temperatures are kept more uniform. This draft-free ventilation carries off strong odors and stale air, and removes excess moisture that would cause wood rot.

A thermostatic control automatically turns dairy barn ventilating fan on and off as needed.

Call our farm representative at our office for information on automatic dairy ventilation . . . or any farm use of electricity. There is no charge for this service.

Pontiac's wonderful Dual-Range Hydra-Matic* gives you both eager pep and alertness in traffic and smooth, quiet, gas-saving cruising on the open road. And it's the same time-proved automatic drive you find in the most expensive cars in America!

• 122" Wheelbase

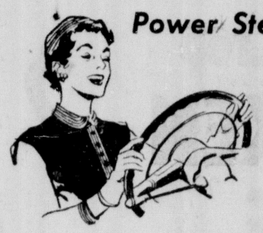
Power Steering



Pontiac's Power Steering* takes over almost all the work of turning and parking and provides driving as effortless as modern engineering can make it. It's the same type of power steering you get in the finest cars.

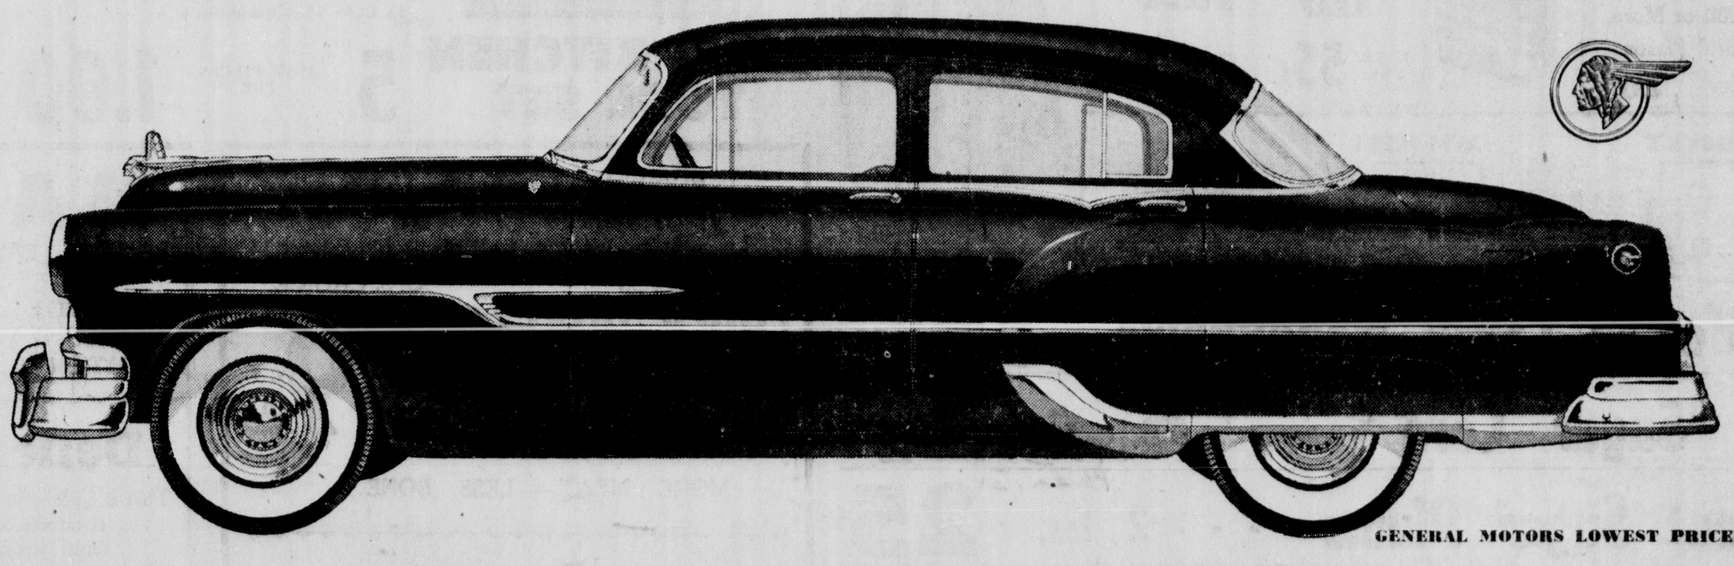
Body by Fisher

Inside Pontiac's big, roomy body you'll find luxury and comfort far beyond Pontiac's modest price. Its de luxe Color-Keyed interiors are finished with the same fine attention to detail as America's costliest cars.



GENERAL MOTORS LOWEST PRICED EIGHT

First, you find yourself in command of a big, high-compression engine that responds so eagerly you know there's power to spare. You control this big 122-inch wheelbase Pontiac with almost no effort. And you know that you're driving a car that's admired everywhere for its distinctively beautiful styling. But only after you've driven it for many thousands of miles do you realize that Pontiac's outstanding point of extra value is more than its low first cost. It is Pontiac's famed dependability, long life and amazingly low operating and maintenance cost. And this great Pontiac quality is proved beyond question by its accepted high resale value. Come in and get the facts—we believe you'll be a Pontiac owner very soon and at a cost a lot less than you think.
